HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

A Year-long Research Project

For her next book, Joanne DiMaggio, MA, CHt, will be conducting a year-long research project on Life Between Lives. Using hypnosis and guided imagery, she will guide qualified subjects first to the past-life that is most impacting them now, then forward into their current life and reversing their journey back through childhood, into the womb and then to the place where souls reside between lifetimes. She will be looking to find similarities/differences in the description of the afterlife and what is each subject's experience meeting their primary guide; working with their Counsel of Elders to review their karmic issues and assets and determine which will be brought forward in their current life; writing their soul's mission for their current life and examining whether they are on that path in this life; determining the selection of parents and why; identifying members of their soul family from prior lifetimes who volunteer to return with them and the specific role they will play; and finally selecting their body type and how that has served them. The secondary purpose will be to engage in a soul writing session to obtain additional information and guidance for healing. These three-hour sessions will be conducted in Charlottesville, Virginia Beach, Richmond and via Skype.

Anyone interested in volunteering should contact Joanne at joanne@joannedimaggio.com to receive the criteria and the
